Police looking for Louisa robber

by Lilly Adkins
ASSOCIATE EDITOR

LOUISA — Law enforcement officials are searching for a man who robbed the Inez Deposit Bank in Louisa Friday and made off with an undisclosed amount of cash.

Kentucky State Police Post 14 spokesman Mike Murriell said Monday that the unidentified male did not brandish a weapon but produced a note asking the teller to give him money.

The KSP issued a press release accompanied by a photo of the man who allegedly robbed the bank. The male is described as being approximately 5 feet, six inches tall, has a slender build. He was wearing a red and black baseball cap, khaki pants, and a long-sleeve patterned shirt over a white T-shirt with the letters WAX (could be WAXER) visible on the front.

According to the report released by the KSP, the man entered the bank, located at 202 East Main Street in downtown Louisa, at approximately 2:55 p.m., demanding cash from a teller.

The man obtained an undisclosed amount of cash before exiting through the bank's back door, fleeing on foot along Lock Avenue and PAINTSVILLE — A Johnson County man who pleaded guilty in Lawrence Circuit Court Friday to killing his parents, Larry and Sandra Blanton, in September 2012 was sentenced early Monday morning to life without the possibility of parole.

Prior to Monday's sentencing by Judge John David Preston in Johnson Circuit Court, William "Willie" Blanton heard impact statements read by various family members, including his sister, his grandmother and an aunt.

Amanda Howard spoke on behalf of herself and another sister, Kim Borowski, in one statement and on behalf of herself and the Blanton family in another.

In the statement for herself and the family, she said that the family of Larry Blanton has been "gravely traumatized" by William Blanton's "senseless act of violence" and that they will always wonder why or what possessed him to commit the horrible crime against his parents.

"All we have left of Larry are permanent pictures

Issues in manslaughter case to be revisited

by Tony Fyffe
BSN MANAGING EDITOR

FRANKFORT — The Kentucky Court of Appeals Friday sent a Johnson County manslaughter case back to the local court for additional findings regarding domestic violence and parole issues.

In its ruling, a three-member appeals court panel said Johnson Circuit Judge John David Preston applied the wrong standard when he denied Donna Wheeler's request to be exempted from having to serve 85 percent of her prison sentence before being eligible for parole.

Wheeler was convicted in May 2011 of first-degree manslaughter in the April 30, 2010, shooting death of her ex-boyfriend, James Sparks. Preston later sentenced her to 14 and a half years in prison.

Wheeler testified that Sparks was drunk on the day of the shooting and that he began abusing her and they struggled with the gun, which went off a couple of times during the struggle. As Sparks was leaving the residence, Wheeler admitted that she fired the gun but

Wet/dry petition circulates in Louisa

by Lilly Adkins

LOUISA — A local business owner is trying to obtain enough signatures on a petition to get the issue of whether the city of Louisa should go wet or stay dry put on the ballot.

A copy of the petition is currently available in the city clerk's office.

Businessman Gene Wilson recently opened a new hotel in Louisa and says that he has a restaurant interested, but only if the city decides to allow people to purchase an alcoholic beverage with their meals.

"Many of the people who stay at my hotel are from away from here, and when they ask about a nice restaurant that they can go to and enjoy a drink with their meal, I have to send them to somewhere like Ashland," Wilson said Monday. "We were in the Depot precinct, and I was getting signatures, but then we got annexed by the city and now that

Doctor sentenced

LEXINGTON — A former Paintsville doctor who previously admitted that he unlawfully dispensed approximately 50,000 prescription pills to individuals in Eastern Kentucky was sentenced last Wednesday to 75 months in prison, to be followed by three years supervised release.

U.S. District Judge Amul Thapar sentenced Richard Albert, 66, for conspiring to distribute and dispense controlled substances. Albert also agreed to forfeit more $630,000,

Johnson County section of Dawkins Trail opens

RICEVILLE – Gov. Steve Beshear and First Lady Jane Beshear, along with trail enthusiasts and local officials, opened the first 18-mile section of the Dawkins Line Rail Trail Saturday.

The former railroad line is the newest adventure tourism attraction in Eastern Kentucky for hikers, horseback riders and cyclists.

"We want the Dawkins Line Rail Trail to attract tourists and help develop the local tourism economy," the governor said. "I know people are excited about the future of this trail and what it can do for this region."

The governor and first lady joined with other officials, including Judge-Executives Tucker Daniel of Johnson County and Charles Hardin of Magoffin County, for a ribbon-cutting ceremony near Riceville in Johnson County, where an unimproved trailhead will be located. The first 18-mile leg of the trail, from Hager Hill in Johnson County to Royalton in Magoffin County, features 24 trestles and 662-foot Gun Creek Tunnel. Another trailhead is located at Royalton in Magoffin County.

"The natural beauty and rolling hillsides are perfect for hiking, cycling and horseback riding," the first lady said. "There's a great demand for new trails and I believe the Dawkins Line will become very popular very soon."

Work on the rail trail – the largest in the state — was carried out by the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet, the Finance and Administration Cabinet and the Tourism, Arts and Heritage Cabinet. The trail will be managed by the Kentucky Department of Parks. The Finance and Administration Cabinet issued a contract to BOCA Enterprises of Hagerhill for construction of the first phase and work was completed this month.

State funding for the 36-mile former rail line was initially provided by the 2006 General Assembly. The purchase of the property from the R.J. Corman Railroad Group was finalized in the spring of 2011. The in our minds and hearts of the last moments we spent with Larry, a son, a brother, a father and a friend to so many, memories that will never leave us. Larry was a man of his word, always there to lend a helping hand to his Oil Springs friends and neighbors. People around Pigeon Creek say he was one of a kind man. If Larry gave you his word it was as good as gold," Howard said. "They also say when it came to Willie, no one was immune to his thieving hands. All Larry could say about Willie is I don't know where I went wrong."

Howard also said that as a family, the best way to describe how they feel is to imagine the worst emotional pain that you've ever experienced and multiply it by a thousand.

"It's a pain that never goes away. There will be no closure. There is no getting over the terrible murder of a loved one. This loss will never go away," Howard also said. "It is beyond our comprehension how a person could do this to another human being much less his own parents. Yet we must live in this hideous aftermath of a situation out of any of our control. Larry was a good person who loved God, life, his family, his animals, farm and the view from their home on Paradise Mountain. We will never forget the enormous suffering caused by Willie. A lifetime in prison can only close one page in our book. He is a heartless, cruel psychopath who deserves life without parole as he has no regard for human life."

In the statement read on behalf of she and her sister, Howard told Blanton that he was the son that their father had always wanted and that he was the father that Blanton never appreciated.

"He was the dad we missed and longed for," Howard said. "We just don't understand how you could have done this and we never will. You had our dad a lifetime, something Kim and I always longed for and if you didn't want or need him, we sure did. Dad always said that someday we would see how much we meant to him and we just knew in our hearts someday he would need us and we could be there for each other, but thanks to you that someday will never come and our broken hearts will never heal. So I hope for you, hurt, as you leave your son without a father and a grandfather, but I don't guess that is possible for a heartless person like you."

Blanton's aunt and Sandra Blanton's sister, Lois Fraley, said that the only thing Willie Blanton had given the family is lies and stealing from each of them. She also said that although she should hate him, she doesn't.

"You have a home where you are going," Blanton's grandmother, Nora Blair, said. "But it won't be one you can run to mom or dad for money or for a truck to drive. How does it feel to know you get nothing for what you did? I wonder if Sandra was scared of you. When you die, you will have no one who cares for you around. You will be alone."

Blair also read something written by Sandra Blanton that Blair said wasn't finished but appeared to be a poem entitled "My Son" in which she talked about what a "ray of sunshine" Willie Blanton was to his mother.

Blanton entered a plea deal with prosecutors at his scheduled pretrial hearing Friday in Lawrence County. As part of the agreement, Blanton received two life sentences without the possibility of parole for the murder of his parents.

Blanton also pleaded guilty to tampering with physical evidence and 10 counts of forged checks, attempting to fill his father's prescription at a Paintsville pharmacy and being a persistent felony offender.

In the plea deal, Blanton received five years for each offense, which was enhanced to 10 years because he is a persistent felony offender. The sentences will run concurrently with those for the murder charges. Blanton also received 253 days jail credit for the time he has already been incarcerated.

Blanton's attorney, Steve Goble, said that his client wanted to resolve the case against him and to give the family some closure.

Johnson County Sheriff Dwayne Price issued a press release just after Blanton entered the plea agreement Friday in which he says "justice has been served."

"This agreement fits the crime that was committed," Price said. "Willie will not get out of prison for the rest of his natural born life. He will no longer pose a danger to society. This case was worked on by every Deputy in our office. The Blanton's family and many citizens in the Oil Springs area, as well as throughout the county, were a lot of help in getting a resolution. Also, we appreciate the hard work put in by the Commonwealth's Attorney Office to get this agreement. I believe I can speak for everyone when I say we are all thankful this case is finally closed."

Family members say they are interested to see what happens in the case involving Blanton's girlfriend, Amanda Fannin, who originally had an agreement with the commonwealth's attorney's office that said she had no involvement in the murders, wasn't at the scene when they took place and only became aware of it after the fact.

In her plea agreement, the death penalty for Blanton was taken off the table and the charges pending against her for flagrant non-support and promoting contraband were to also be dismissed in exchange for her providing information in the case. But the commonwealth is seeking to have the agreement revoked after receiving information that would prove Fannin violated the terms of her agreement.

Fannin is scheduled to appear in Johnson Circuit Court for a status hearing June 21 and then again on June 26 for an evidentiary hearing.

Johnson County Coroner J.R. Frisby said that the preliminary autopsy of Larry and Sandra Blanton showed that they had died of blunt force trauma to the head and to the trunk and the official date of death was set at Sept. 7, 2012, through an investigation conducted by the Johnson County Sheriff's Office.

The couple's remains were found buried in an area by a barn on their Oil Springs property, approximately 4-4.5 feet down in the dirt and beneath a heavy pile of horse manure, according to Frisby.

Larry and Sandra Blanton went missing in September 2012, and Willie Blanton and Fannin were both considered persons of interest from the beginning, police said.

Willie Blanton was arrested Oct. 8, 2012, after he tried to fill his father's prescription at a Paintsville pharmacy, but wasn't charged with their murder until the bodies were recovered in February.

WHEELER: Issues to be revisited in manslaughter case

did not intend to shoot Sparks. Wheeler also testified that Sparks had abused her on several prior occasions.

Following her trial, Wheeler asked that she be exempted from serving 85 percent of her sentence before being eligible for parole because she was a victim of domestic violence. Under state law, any "person who has been determined by a court to have been a victim of domestic violence or abuse . . . with regard to the offenses involving the death of the victim or serious physical injury to the victim" is exempt from the 85 percent requirement.

Preston ruled that Wheeler was not entitled to the domestic violence exemption, applying another statutory exception to "mean that Wheeler had to establish that she was a victim of domestic violence at the time she committed the offense," the appeals court said.

A previous Court of Appeals decision clarified that the statute "does not require that the domestic violence occur at the same time as the offense for which the defendant was charged."

In Friday's ruling, the appeals court said the commonwealth conceded that the judge "incorrectly applied a simultaneous standard in this case."

"The trial court did not address whether there was a connection between the offense and the domestic violence," the court said in its ruling. "Further, KRS 533.060(1) requires that 'the findings of the court shall be noted in the final judgment.' Here, the trial court made no such findings in its judgment."

The appeals court remanded the case for "additional findings and entry of an amended judgment."

"On remand, the trial court should 'look at the totality of the evidence to determine if' there was 'some connection' between the crime and domestic violence," the court wrote. "The trial court must then make findings regarding Wheeler's parole eligibility, and set forth those findings in its amended judgment."

The court rejected two other arguments Wheeler made on appeal — that the judge improperly failed to dismiss the indictment and improperly disclosed the penalty ranges for first- and second-degree manslaughter to the jury during the guilt phase of the trial.

TRAIL: First section opens to public at Riceville

trail name comes from the Dawkins Lumber Company, which developed the rail line in the early 1900s for timber harvesting and transportation.

The Dawkins Line is modeled after another successful rails-to-trails project in southwest Virginia — the 34-mile Virginia Creeper Trail. The trail in Virginia attracts over 200,000 visitors a year and has led to new businesses with a positive economic impact.

The 18-mile section currently has two unimproved trailheads; one near Riceville at Swamp Branch and the second at Royalton. Both have parking areas. The Dawkins Line Rail Trail is open during daylight hours and motorized vehicles are prohibited.

The second phase of the Dawkins Line Rail Trail is in the planning stages.

More information about the Dawkins Line Rail Trail is available at http://parks.ky.gov/parks/recreationparks/dawkins-line.

ALBERT: Ex-Paintsville doctor gets 75-month term

which represents proceeds from his conspiracy. Albert was also ordered to pay $100,000 in community restitution.

Albert admitted that from January 2009 until February 2011, he wrote numerous fraudulent prescriptions to individuals without a legitimate medical purpose. He typically wrote prescriptions for 100 (10-milligram) Percocet pills in exchange for $200 cash. Court records indicate that Albert frequently wrote approximately 40 to 50 fraudulent prescriptions in a given day.

According to the plea agreement, Albert wrote prescriptions to people who visited his clinic, his private residence and a closed chiropractor's office in Johnson County. During these visits, Albert performed little to no examination before writing the prescriptions. Patients who returned to the clinic after their initial visits received prescriptions without visiting with Albert at all.

In many cases, Albert signed his name to blank prescriptions and had an office assistant fill out the actual prescription. He also back dated information into his medical files to cover up the scheme.

During the course of the conspiracy, Albert worked at Care More Pain Management; and after resigning from Care More, he opened his own pain clinic at Turner Branch. Albert was employed by Care More Pain Management owners Tammy Cantrell, of Oil Springs and Shelby Lackey of Williamsport. They pleaded guilty in April to conspiracy to distribute and unlawfully dispense Oxycodone and maintaining a drug involved premise.

The investigation started in 2009 when investigators with the Kentucky Attorney General's Office observed large congregations of people routinely lined up outside Care More's pain clinic.

The investigation was conducted by the Drug Enforcement Agency, the Kentucky Attorney General's Office and the Paintsville Police Department. Assistant U.S. Attorney Roger West represented the U.S. Attorney's Office in the case.

LOUISA: Wet/dry petition circulating consists of East Louisa, West Louisa and Meadowbrook Precincts. I think there were more than 800 registered voters who voted in the last election, and I am required to get 25 percent of the number of people who voted to sign a petition asking that the issue be on the ballot. I think, and don't hold me to it, that we need around 220 signatures. I went to the city council meeting to ask that they allow me to place a copy of the petition at city hall, and they agreed. Four of the council members signed and then some of the members in the audience signed it, too. I think people are scared that there will be bars, and that isn't the case. If it goes through, then the city would be able to regulate who can have a license to operate, and if they didn't want a bar, they just simply deny the license."

Wilson said he also is against having a bar in town but that it could generate revenue if businesses such as grocery stores could sell alcoholic beverages.

"I'm doing this because Applebee's is interested in building by my hotel," Wilson said. "If it gets approved, they will build a restaurant by my hotel and I won't have to send people elsewhere to eat. The city can regulate the licenses, but I see nothing wrong with places like Walmart or Food City being able to sell it. It's a win-win situation."

Wilson pointed out that people who want alcoholic beverages are able to cross over into West Virginia and purchase them, but that it doesn't benefit the city when they do and that the city would benefit "greatly" if the city goes wet.

"If I get the signatures needed, then the documents will be given to County Clerk Chris Jobe to be certified," Wilson said. "I think they can do a special election and don't have to wait on the regular election if we get enough signatures."

Man who fled from van captured

by Lilly Adkins
Big Sandy News

PRESTONSBURG — Freedom was short-lived for a Floyd County inmate who escaped custody last week.

Law enforcement officials captured Scottie R. Bradley Wednesday night, June 12, a day after he escaped custody following a court appearance in Prestonsburg for charges stemming from a robbery at McDowell Stop & Shop.

Bradley, 31, of Blue River, apparently fled after getting out of a van that had transported inmates back from court Tuesday, June 11. Bradley had appeared in Floyd District Court for a preliminary hearing concerning the armed robbery at the McDowell Stop & Shop June 4. The jail jumpsuit he was wearing was reportedly found near the Big Sandy River, and officials said he was considered dangerous when they began trying to locate him.

On Wednesday, June 12, at approximately 9:29 p.m., Kentucky State Police at the Pikeville post received a call from the Prestonsburg Police Department advising them that an unidentified male was attempting to stop vehicles on U.S. 23 in the Watergap community of Floyd County, according to a KSP press release.

At approximately 9:34 p.m., Bradley was taken into custody by KSP trooper John Gabbard, Sgt. David Peppi and officer Jonathan Pack, who was assisted by the Prestonsburg Police Department, then transported to the Floyd County Detention Center, where he was lodged on one count of second-degree escape, the release said.

For the McDowell holdup, Bradley is charged with first-degree robbery, possession of a handgun by a convicted felon, resisting arrest, fleeing or evading police on foot, first-degree wanton endangerment, operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol/drugs/etc., as well as other traffic related offenses and is now charged additionally with second-degree escape.

A passenger in the getaway vehicle from the McDowell robbery, Kelly J. Bryant, 43, of Martin, is also charged with first-degree robbery.

According to a press release issued by the Kentucky State Police following the incident, Bradley allegedly entered the business wearing a white handkerchief over his face, brandishing a weapon and demanding money from the clerk, who complied. He and Bryant then fled the scene in a green Buick passenger car with an undisclosed amount of cash, but were apprehended by KSP in the area near the business, the release said.

Scottie Bradley

In 2005, Bradley was convicted of first-degree robbery in both Floyd and Pike counties and was sentenced to serve 10 years.

Jaye "Louise" McNeal Allison Morrow
1935-2013

LAWRENCE COUNTY — Jaye "Louise" McNeal Allison Morrow, 77, of Louisa, was called away to her heavenly home on Monday, June 10.

Louise was born Oct. 18, 1935, in Albia, Iowa, the daughter of the late Clifford Frank McNeal and Irma Faye Van Gilder McNeal Francis.

She was also preceded in death by her beloved husband, John Elmer Morrow Jr.; three sons, Jimmy Jay, Robert Wayne, and James Paul; as well as numerous brothers and sisters.

Louise is leaving behind a son, Ronald Lee Morrow and wife Gaylene of Paintsville; along with four daughters, Linda Collen Bostic and fiance' Doug Harlow of Elizabethtown, Sandra Arlene Holbrook and husband Byron, and Kathryn Louise Webb and husband Heath, both of Louisa, and Kimberly June Prater and husband Paul David of Lowmansville; 13 grandchildren, Ronald "Jason" Morrow and wife Laura, Jamie Rae Erickson and husband Steven, Jonathan Daniel Morrow and wife Elizabeth, Gena Lynn Prater and husband Michael, Brandy LeAnn Triplett, Carla Louise Marcum and husband Daniel, Amanda Lee Cox, and husband Jason, Jonathon "Derek" Morrow Prater, Emily Kathryn Webb, Ellie Klaire Webb, James "Blake" Morrow Prater, Cindy Sanderson and husband Steve, and Sonny Jay Tickle and wife Tina; 21 great-grandchildren; along with brothers, sisters, countless friends, and other loved ones.

Life is such a wonderful gift and only during death does the living honestly reflect on how powerful our Father in Heaven is. As Louise enters those pearly gates and sees the precious face of our Master as He says "Welcome Home My Child", then treads those streets of gold, with no more sickness, sorrow, or pain, we surely mourn only for ourselves because our earthy loss is purely Heavens' gain. Her life embodied what living truly is about. She loved children, but her children and grandchildren more than anything. Each child, grandchild, great-grandchild, family member, friend and foe will remember Louise in a different way. She was many different things to many different people. She was first a daughter and sister, then a cousin and an Aunt, not to mention a wife and mom, and finally she was a grandma, a Meemaw, a Mamaw, and a Nana, all the while being someone's friend, confidant, mentor, and a hero.

Louise's gift of life was given, allowed to flourish for 77 years, and then in a single instant it was taken away. As we look back now at her life we are reminded that "life should not be measured by the number of breathes we take, but instead by the number of moments that take our breathe". Louise was loving, honest, dependable, determined, and compassionate to a fault. She touched more lives than she even realized. She created those breaths taking moments for herself and others each day she lived. So although it is customary to mourn her passing, please don't forget to also celebrate the time you shared with her and how blessed she made our life.

Until we are all once again together on the other side, cherish your memories of her, love one another, laugh to help heal the spirit, and live to make her proud because that's what she would have wanted.

Funeral services were 11 a.m. Thursday, June 13, at Wilson Funeral. Burial was in Morrow Family Cemetery, Isaac Park Road, Louisa, under direction of Wilson Funeral Home, Louisa.

Upgrade your cable modem for faster speeds

by Kim Komando

Kim Komando hosts the nation's largest talk radio show about consumer electronics, computers and the Internet.

I'll be honest: Cable modems aren't glamorous technology. In fact, you probably haven't thought about yours since it was installed.

It's easy to forget how important, and impressive, your cable modem actually is. It handles your Internet traffic 24/7 for years, usually without a hiccup. Some modems even pull double duty as your wireless router.

Beyond that, there is another good reason to think about your cable modem. If it's more than a few years old, you might not get the Internet speeds you pay for.

Don't guess at your Internet speed.

Cable companies are busy upgrading their networks for faster speeds. Naturally, to access these faster speeds requires a newer cable modem.

The newest standard for cable modems is DOCSIS 3 - although DOCSIS 3.1 is coming soon. DOCSIS 3 can have data download rates of 160 megabits per second, or better - four times faster than DOCSIS 2. Sounds great!

But don't run out and grab a new modem just yet. Check with your cable provider to see if your connection uses DOCSIS 3. If your neighborhood network isn't up-to-date, a new cable modem can wait.

There's also no rush to upgrade if you have a basic low-speed Internet plan. You won't get anywhere near your modem's capacity.

The exception is if you have a really old DOCSIS 1.1 modem. That really needs to be replaced.

In addition to boosting your transfer rates, a newer modem could clear up any connection issues you've been experiencing. Many cable companies are phasing out DOCSIS 1.1 modems anyway.

To find out what kind of a modem you have, visit the modem manufacturer's website. Then look up your model number. This information should be on the bottom or back of the modem.

Even if you've determined that you should upgrade, you aren't done yet. The big question is should you buy a new modem or lease one from your cable company?

Both strategies have their pros and cons.

The major cable providers tack on a monthly fee of $3 or more for renting a modem. If anything goes wrong with it, the company will usually fix it or replace it for no charge.

Most cable companies keep the modem up-to-date with the latest firmware automatically. This can enhance the modem's performance.

Call your provider and see if it will upgrade you to a DOCSIS 3 modem for free. It might do so to keep you a happy customer. Some people have even gotten the monthly rental fee waived.

So, what about buying your own modem? There's a case for that as well.

Let's say you lease a modem for $4 a month. After 4 years, you've shelled out $192.

You can buy an excellent DOCSIS 3 modem for $85-$100. It's more expensive up front. But the longer you keep the modem, the more you save. I know people who have had the same modem for 6 years or more.

The downside is that you're on the hook if

Shelter to host open house

LOUISA — The Lawrence County Humane Society Animal Shelter is celebrating National Adopt-A-Shelter-Cat Month in June.

As part of its monthly celebration, the animal shelter will host an open house Saturday, June 22, from 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

Humane Society officials say this is an ideal time to adopt a feline, since the spring and summer months typically bring a surge of kittens and cats to the nation's shelters.

"Whether you're looking for a mellow, mature cat or a fun, frisky kitten, you'll find the perfect feline at our shelter," says Beverly Pack, cat coordinator for the Lawrence County Humane Society. "We have cats of all sizes, ages, breeds, and personalities, and they're all looking for loving, permanent homes."

The Cat Shelter will also be open Friday, June 21, from 6-8 p.m. to help those people who work have the opportunity to visit the facility. During this weekend only, there will be reduced adoption fees on all cats and kittens. The adoption fee for a cat or kitten will be only be $50, which includes the pet being spayed/neutered, all vaccinations (age appropriate), deworming, litter box trained and socialized to humans and other cats.

The Lawrence County Humane Society encourages people to enrich their lives by adopting a cat. These tips should be considered when adopting:

• Age: While kittens are hard to resist, adult cats are often better suited to families with young children. Mature cats respond better to being handled by inquisitive youngsters.

• Number: It can be beneficial to adopt more than one cat or kitten, especially if the pets will be left alone for long periods while you are gone. Not all cats enjoy companionship, but many are very social with members of their own species.

• Personality: Many cats are under a great deal of stress in a shelter environment. A cat's true personality may not emerge until she has been in her new home for several weeks. The Lawrence County Humane Society encourages you to visit with the cat and spend time with it at the Shelter so you can find the right personality for your home.

• Coat: The longer the cat's fur, the more brushing will be needed to prevent painful matting.

• Nutrition and health: Good nutrition and twice-a-year vet visits will help your cat stay healthy and happy. Keep your cat indoors to prevent her from contracting diseases, being hit by a car or getting hurt by other animals.

• Tags and microchips: Millions of cats are taken to animal shelters as strays each year -- but only about 2 percent of cats without an ID tag or microchip are reunited with their owners. Make sure your cat wears a collar and tag with the cat's name and your name, address and phone number. Microchips provide permanent identification that can never come off or get lost.

• Prepare your home: Adult cats and kittens love to climb and explore, so beware of possible hazards. Don't let cords or wires dangle, and cover any floor heating and air vents. Some houseplants may be toxic; check with your vet for details.

• Kids and cats: Children should be taught that a kitten or cat is a companion, not a toy. Rough handling can lead to injuries to both the cat and the child.

• Dogs and cats: Cats and dogs often enjoy each other's company, but great care must be taken when introducing these two species. Some dogs may be aggressive toward small animals and may not be suited to sharing their homes with cats. If you have a dog, ask the adoption staff if you can bring him to the shelter to meet the cat in a controlled environment before you adopt. Most cats will be frightened the first time they see a dog and will need time to accept a canine companion.

For more information about cats and kittens available for adoption, call Pack at 606-571-6224. Some of the animals available for adoption may be seen on the animal shelter's Web site at www.lawrencecokyanimalshelter.com or www.petfinder.com/shelters/KY26.html. Updates are being done daily.

TRMC gets ACR gold seal

LOUISA — Three Rivers Medical Center has been awarded a three-year term of accreditation in mammography as the result of a recent review by the American College of Radiology (ACR).

Mammography is a specific type of imaging test that uses a low-dose x-ray system to examine breasts. A mammography exam, called a mammogram, is used to aid in the early detection and diagnosis of breast diseases in women.

The ACR gold seal of accreditation represents the highest level of image quality and patient safety. It is awarded only to facilities meeting ACR Practice Guidelines and Technical Standards after a peer-review evaluation by board-certified physicians and medical physicists who are experts in the field. Image quality, personnel qualifications, adequacy of facility equipment, quality control procedures, and quality assurance programs are assessed. The findings are reported to the ACR Committee on Accreditation, which subsequently provides the practice with a comprehensive report they can use for continuous practice improvement.

The ACR is a national professional organization serving more than 36,000 diagnostic/interventional radiologists, radiation oncologists, nuclear medicine physicians, and medical physicists with programs focusing on the practice of medical imaging and radiation oncology and the delivery of comprehensive health care services.

"This accreditation indicates that our services are up to par with national guidelines for mammography services, and demonstrates our commitment to quality patient care," said Leslie Wellman, TRMC's director of radiology.

something goes wrong with it. Plus, you're responsible for staying current on firmware updates. However, those don't happen too often.

If you decide to buy, check out your service provider's support pages for recommended DOCSIS 3 modems. If you stick with top brands such as Motorola, Zoom, Linksys and D-Link, you'll get reliability and a good warranty. You should also be able to use it with another provider if you move.

When shopping, you'll notice some modems with built-in wireless routers. These are often called gateways. While a gateway is convenient space-wise, it has disadvantages.

Stand-alone wireless routers are more powerful and have more features. A gateway is tethered to the wall with a short coaxial cable. A stand-alone router is easier to place where you want, which means a better signal.

Don't forget what happens if one part of the gateway goes kaput. You'll have to buy a new gateway or a standalone unit anyway.

Additionally, with 802.11ac Wi-Fi gaining popularity, you'll probably upgrade your router in a few years. That's well before you want to upgrade your cable modem again.

KBA donates to hope center

PRESTONSBURG — The Kentucky Bankers Association (KBA) sponsors a "One on One" program that can benefit local charities and not-for-profit organizations when community bankers work to better the community.

Earlene Nelson, an employee of First Commonwealth Bank, and several of her co-workers provided volunteers for Children's Camps at the Floyd County Housing Authority's Ivy Creek and Warco locations June 3 and June 6.

As a result of these efforts and contributions, the KBA made a $100 donation to the Town Branch Hope Center in Prestonsburg.

The Town Branch Hope Center is located at the Town Branch Christian Victory Fellowship in Prestonsburg. The center has a full-time food pantry that monthly serves over 100 families. The pantry is open one day each week and anytime for emergencies.

The Town Branch Hope Center also has four annual clothing distributions. At the Easter distribution, each child receives a new Easter outfit, including a new pair of shoes as well as an Easter Basket with candy. A back-to school distribution provides children with a new outfit, new shoes and a back-pack with school supplies. A separate new coats distribution also includes hats, scarfs and gloves and it is worthy to note that 1,000 coats were distributed this year. A fourth distribution occurs at Christmas time and includes a new Christmas outfit, new shoes, toys and food baskets.

The clothing distributions annually serve well over 800 families. The families are sent to the Town Branch Hope Center from local organizations such as school Family Resource Centers, Social Services, local government and non-government resource areas.

The first distribution was stared with 50 new coats in October 1993, and the first food was distributed in 1993. Now in its 20th year, the Town Branch Hope Center continues to grow and serve those in need.

Louisa Eastern Star recognizes members

LOUISA — Louisa Chapter #292 of Order of the Eastern Star recently recognized two of its members.

Fern Short was honored for 50 years of service of membership in the Order of the Eastern Star. She received a special service pin to mark the occasion.

Short joined the local chapter on Dec. 1, 1959. She served the chapter as chaplain for many years.

"She served the chapter with distinction and dedication in her loyal service as a past officer and member," a press release from the chapter said. "The chapter has honored this special lady for her milestone achievement of service and contributions to the local chapter."

Bill H. Copley was honroed for his "outstanding service and dedication" with the recruitment of new members.

On behalf of Most Worthy Grand Matron Sister Bobbi White, Most Worthy Grand Patron Brother John Grobler and the General Grand Chapter Committee on Membership, Copley was honored with the Rob Morris Membership Jewel for recruiting new members into the Order of the Eastern Star. Morris was the founder of the Order of the Eastern Star. Copley received a special jewel to mark the occasion and to wear with "well-deserved pride for our beautiful Order," the release said.

Copley is presently serving the chapter as Associate Patron.

The Order of the Eastern Star is the largest fraternal organization in the world to which men and women may belong. It has over 10,000 chapters in the United States, Canada and 18 other countries. Though its teachings are based on the Bible, the Order of the Eastern Star espouses no religion and is neither secret nor political. Its members are comprised of men who are Master Masons and women with specific Masonic relationships.

Millions of dollars are raised annually within its membership for numerous projects. Many national and local charities are among the projects supported by its members.

The Louisa community has an active Eastern Star Chapter with nearly 100 members that work with the officers and members of the Masonic lodge Apperson Lodge #195, Free & Accepted Masons in Louisa. Donna Childers is the Worthy Matron and Patton Hart is the Worthy Patron of the chapter in Louisa.

No repeat winners in victory lane at 201 Speedway

By Chris Belcher
TRACK WRITER

SITKA — Since reopening in late last September under the ownership of Isom's Jarrod Breeding, 201 Speedway has had 12 Late Model races, including the events run this season. An example of the level of competition at the 30-year-old race track, which at one time was an active strip mining operation, is the fact that in all 12 Late Model races since re-opening, not one Late Model driver has visited victory lane as a repeat winner. This tradition of competition continued Saturday night with the running of the Southern Steel Iron & Metal Recycling Moonshine Runner 50, sanctioned by the Southern Regional Racing Series with 28 drivers from seven states visiting the three-decade-old high-banked red clay oval at Sitka.

Dunnville driver Brad Neat posted the quickest Late Model qualifying effort, turning a 13.562 in the Tim Logan Racing entry. Heat race wins went to Michael Wright of Isom, Allen's Brandon Kinzer and Neat setting the field for the first annual Southern Steel Moonshiner 50 Late Model feature event, after the four-wide salute to the fans with the #18 of Kinzer rolling off from the inside starting spot, flanked to the inside by Wright's #18. Kinzer used the outside lane off of turn two to gain the point, with Wright charging back to the inside of turn three as Brandon led the field of 24 past the start finish for the first time ahead of Wright and Olympia driver Derek Fisher and an early side-by-side battle for fourth between the #11 of Neat and Grayson's Jackie Boggs. The blistering pace of a long green flag run put Kinzer in lap traffic by the 11th circuit before the caution came out for Daniel Williams's #12D. Just after the yellow, Boggs and Fisher provided the first tense moment of the race as they touched while racing off the fourth corner. Fisher rode the outside retaining wall down the backstretch, but managed to keep his car together. When they took the green again, with Kinzer remaining in control of the lead, the best race on the track continued to be for second with Fisher and Boggs turning laps wheel to wheel until Jackie took the outside lane in turn two to overtake Fisher and set sights on Kinzer's lead with a outside run through three and four, just clearing the #18 of Kinzer by the flag stand on lap 13. Kinzer would charge back on the new leader, making his bid to return to the point with an inside challenge, but two laps later Boggs would be in control of the lead with Kinzer still within striking distance of the Grayson racer. By lap 14, it was Boggs, Kinzer and Victor Lee, who made his way to the third spot, followed by the #17 of Martin's Shannon Thornsberry. Caution on lap 17 for the #12 of Larry Gray allowed Kinzer to again make a challenge to the inside of Boggs at the entrance of the corners; however, Boggs could power through the turns, leaning hard on the right rear, finding a quicker lane through the turns ahead of another side- by-side battle between Thornsberry and the #4 of Victor Lee. Shannon overpowered Lee at the entrance of turn one on lap 19 to claim the third spot behind Kinzer and Boggs. By lap 22, Kinzer was slightly quicker at the entrance to turn one, but the outside lane proved to be the faster lane off the high side of turn two, turning back the charge of Kinzer over the next several laps. Thornsberry was just a little quicker at the entrance of turn three while looking to run down Kinzer. Lap 27 had the winner of the Walter Combs Memorial Late model event, Dustin Linville, getting around Thornsberry, taking the outside lane to overtake Thornsberry's #17 for third. Linville was one of the few drivers to take his #D8 to the third racing lane off the fourth turn and make a strong charge to the front stretch challenging Kinzer's second spot. With 10 to go, Boggs continued to remain in charge up front while Kinzer again had to turn his attention to the charge of Linville, who drew side by side with the Allen racer by the flag stand, looking like one image as they passed in front of the capacity grandstands. The next lap had Linville recorded as the second-place runner, but Kinzer refused to let go of the position and fought his way back to the second position through one and two, racing the inside lane as he and Dustin continued to pass the start finish line wheel to wheel, with Thornsberry right there to make it a three-way battle for the second position. The next lap saw Kinzer and Thornsberry make slight contact on the front stretch, sending the early race leader, Kinzer, to the pits for the remaining six circuits and Linville losing the spot to Thornsberry. With five to go, Boggs stayed in control while second place was the most contested position as the #21 of Kenneth Howell, who started 13th in the feature, raced his way up to challenge Thornsberry. Howell would clear the #17 of Thornsberry, powering to the inside of Shannon to take over second with two to go. With close racing for the second spot, Grayson driver Jackie Boggs took a half a straight-away advantage to the $3000 Southern Steel Iron & Metal Recycling Moonshine Runner 50 Late model checkers to become the 10th different winner at 201 this season in his Trick Shot Lubricant-, CMW Racing-, Hoosier Racing Tires- and Graphic Impressions-sponsored #4B. After starting in 13th, Martin County driver Kenneth Howell raced to a solid second-place finish ahead of Thornberry, Dustin Linville, Jason Welshan and Derek Fisher.

Open Wheel Modifieds were the next to take to the red clay with the #33 of Christian Baker of Whitesburg starting from the inside pole with the #13 of Josh Sexton of Mallie to the outside. At the drop of the green, Baker and Sexton went side by side down the backstretch with Sexton carrying the left front tire of his 13 all the way off of turn four to the flag stand, trying to run down Baker in a fierce open wheel battle. They continued their side-by-side race with the advantage to the inside lane by Sexton in turn three, then passing the flag stand nearly even by the second lap. It would be lap four before they would line out single file with the advantage to Sexton. Lap five had Christian go a little high in turn four, opening a lane for the #35 of Jermey Hayes. The first caution was displayed on the sixth lap, bunching up the field for a restart. Midway through the Open Wheel feature, former champion Dennis Deboard went hard into the turn three wall, sending his car back onto the track hard after a solid hit to the pole holding the turn three exit gate. Also involved in the incident were the #22 of Keith Caudill and #00 of Kevin Harkins. After a red flag parked the drivers on the back stretch to clear up the incident when the race went back under the green, Sexton continued to hold the point and hold on for his first feature win of the season in his Cornett Race Engine-powered, Ratliff Body Shop-, Custom Suspension- and Bebo's Auto Repair-sponsored 2013 Harris Chassis. Tommy Bailey got to the finish line as the runner-up after overtaking third-place finisher Ervin Vance of the Mud Creek Motersports team. Fourth went to the #43K of Kevin Hall with Kevin Christian completing the top five.

Bomber feature action from Saturday night had Pikeville diesel mechanic Colby Taylor leading from the drop of the green to the Bomber checkers in his Mike Bullock race engine powered, Thacker Auto Parts-, Lloyd Hall Motersports-, Rail Freight Transportation-, Custom Suspension-, High Tech Signs & Graphics P.R.S.-sponsored Monte Carlo. Three-time feature winner and former track champion Jim Lemaster made a strong charge at the leader to finish a solid runner up ahead of Ryan Robertson of Salyersville and James Crowe.

Saturday night had 201 welcome one of the larger counts of four-cylinder drivers to the high banks of 201 with the #24 of James Ramey and Mud Creek's Nathan Martin sharing the front row. Martin quickly took the lead of the race with a strong runoff of turn two while Logan Burke took a look to the inside of Ramey along with the #360 of James Crowe in the center of one and two nearly making it three wide before settling back in single file. By lap five, the #44 of Lacy Lowe had raced his way to the front to take over second. With Martin well ahead, the race would be for second as the field took the plus-one signal from flagman Bucky Tackett, Lowe faced the charge of a first-year driver, 13-year-old Herald Whitaker Middle School student Chase Hunley, who looked to get to the outside of Lowe in turn two, then charged back at him after they took the white driving underneath to take over the runner up position on the final lap. At the payoff flag for the fourth time this season, it would be Morehead University student Nathan Martin of the Mud Creek Motorsports Nation with his Hall's Auto & Muffler, East Kentucky Auto World, D's Grocery, "East Hills Heating & Cooling, Twin Bridge Auto Parts" #3N 1979 Mustang. The last lap moved Salyersville's Chase Hunley to the runner-up finish ahead of Lacy Lowe, James Ramey and Logan Burke.

Saturday night's final feature had 25-year-old billing clerk for A.R.H, Justin King, take the Limited Late Model feature win in his White's Racing Engine-powered, King's Body Shop-, Vanover's Garage-, ACII Graphics- and K & R Rebuild-sponsored #9 Rocket Chassis getting to the payoff checkers ahead of the #165 of Chris Maynard and 68-year-old veteran from Dean, Jack Fields.

Track owner/operator Jarrod Breeding wishes again to thank the drivers and thousands of fans who continue to show such overwhelming support of 201 Speedway with yet another successful night of dirt track racing action and the Southern Regional Racing Series for running the Late Model event at 201 during the Southern Steel Moonshine Runner 50.

This Saturday, in addition to Late Models, Open Wheel Modifieds, Limited Late Models and Four Cylinders, 201 invites all bombers to take part in paying tribute to one of the pioneers of dirt track racing in Eastern Kentucky in the first annual Bill McCloud" Bomber Memorial Rac,e paying the winner $1,000.

GRAYSON DRIVER JACKIE Boggs won the first annual Southern Regional Racing Series Southern Steel Iron & Metal Recycling $3,000 Late Model feature at 201 Speedway Saturday night.
